

Jenna Lawler

2025-2026 Indiana FFA

State Reporter

Rushville, IN

FFA Stats

- Rushville FFA Chapter
- SAE: Diversified Livestock, Agriculture Education, & Integrated Agriscience
- Favorite CDE/LDE: Extemporaneous, Agriscience Fair, & Parliamentary Procedure

Jenna became involved in FFA her Freshman year after having to give up most athletics. Most of her family had been in FFA and told her she would find her family there. She decided to join and it quickly reignited her love of agriculture she had lost from when she was growing up. Over time, their experiences in the organization have helped her develop her speaking skills, confidence, and allowed her to join a community of people who have shared values.

"Connection is the currency of purpose. Wherever we invest it, something meaningful grows."

-I intend to invest my time, effort, and energy into the members of Indiana FFA so that meaningful relationships sprout and prosper.

Throughout their FFA journey, Jenna has had the opportunity to find her passion for advocacy and change through agriscience research and extemporaneous speaking contests. She has also been able to learn how rewarding real connections can be by growing close with her teammates from parliamentary procedure and even having the opportunity to teach 8th grade students about agriculture. These opportunities have shaped their passion for meaningful relationships and advocacy.

As a State Officer, she hopes to motivate and inspire members so that they feel confident and capable in achieving their goals.

"Real passion is not just doing what you love — it's drawing others in to love it with you"

-I hope to share my love of FFA with members in order to help them find the same type of passion and love for the FFA organization and the people in it.